

"HEALING OURSELVES, HEALING THE EARTH"

WHAT: A special Geomancy* weekend with Ana Pogačnik in the beautiful landscape of our local North Idaho region will include healing and transformational work that is then reflected in the healing of the outer landscape.

*The word "Geomancy" was used in ancient times to describe Earth magic; today, it is used to describe our relationship with the Earth and acknowledging that the Earth is a living, conscious Being with whom we are in an evolving co-creative partnership.

WHEN: October 10-12    Friday 6:30-8:30 PM
Saturday 9:00 AM – 8:30 PM
Sunday 9:00 AM -1:30 PM

WHERE: Sandpoint, Idaho and surrounding area

COST: $195 (includes Saturday dinner and Sunday lunch; you will provide your own sack lunch on Saturday)

PRE-REGISTRATION NECESSARY! $75 deposit, refundable until October 6 after October 6 $50 will be refundable ($25 processing fees are non-refundable)
Admission to Ana's Wednesday night concert is free for workshop participants.

To register or for more information contact:
Andrea Lyman 265-2200 or Darcy Chambers 265-2453

Ana Pogačnik and Marko Pogačnik (father and daughter) have been co-teaching the North American School of Geomancy for several years, and have co-authored the book, How Wide the Heart: The Roots of Peace in Palestine and Israel. Since 1990 they have been working together with groups in their home country of Slovenia and many other groups around the world in the field of Geomancy and lithopuncture. In 2002 Ana started developing her own educational program through "Schule Wieder Sehen" called "A Deeper Cognition of Landscape." For more information about Geomancy, the North American School of Geomancy, and the Pogačniks and their work, visit:

www.ana-pogacnik.com or www.lifenethome.org or www.markopogacnik.com

ANA SAYS OF HER WORK:

At the very beginning of my research work, more than 16 years ago, I believed that it all had to do with the healing of the Earth, and thus with the healing of the landscape. Through intensive work, however, it became clear to me that it was all about the mirroring and healing of ourselves and, through the mirroring, about the healing of the landscape at the same time. Now I finally understand that the landscape is in fact the best therapist. Although it can carry us most tenderly, it leads us very clearly and resolutely into the inner processes and accompanies us through them. It is actually a deep touch that enables us to open the door of the heart. And through this, healing is brought forth. If we are ready to open and recognize ourselves as the landscape's mirror, we can find, perceive and see the very same within ourselves as well. In this way we get the chance to identify, transform, dissolve and heal our own histories, patterns, etc. And as we are an inseparable part of the landscape, we pass on the healing impulse to it and the Earth. The fact is that we are not only part of the Earth, part of the landscape, but with our presence, we are the landscape and with our body, we are the Earth itself.